Analysis. Consider this incident and also the significant number of Somali immigrants who have returned to Somalia to become jihadis. When you add to this the number of stories written in the media about the Somali taxi drivers at the Minneapolis Airport who refuse to accept passengers who have alcoholic products with them, or disabled people using service dogs, or are in some way offensive to their Muslim outlook on life, you create a very unpleasant picture.

Perhaps there just might be a pattern here that bears watching. Or perhaps a group of people that should be deported in the name of real national security. When you consider the number of people who are literally dying to get to America every day, why should we put up with people who don't want to become Americans but who want to be doctrinaire Muslims living in America? Perhaps if we revoke a few “Green Cards” and send the more doctrinaire, and therefore more dangerous, back to Somalia where they can engage in jihad until they go to meet Allah, the remainder will decide that America isn't such a bad place even if it is run by infidels.
